

EXPLORE Thallon

It's here in our very own town of Thallon that the first silo art in Queensland was created. You'll spot them straight away as the vibrant GrainCorp Murals signal your approach into town.

"The Watering Hole" Mural covers four, 30-metre-high silos and was painted by Brisbane artists Travis Vinson 'Drapel' and Joel Fergie 'The Zookeeper' in 2017. Would you believe they created this mural from just one A4 sized drawing? They feature images significant to the area and are best viewed from the designated viewing platform. A gift from the silo artists can also be found along the river at the old rail bridge where you'll discover some impressive portraits of locals, Colly and Pom.

Located near the grain silos you'll find a top camping spot at the Thallon Campgrounds. This is the perfect spot to sit back, relax and watch the sun go down with the area also offering toilets and showers, with power also available.

Make sure you visit Thallon's town park as you'll want to capture a selfie with William the Wombat; a two-metre Hairy-Nosed wombat sculpture and Thallon's unique connection to them. Learn all about this fascinating species and the unique connection to Thallon.

No visit to Thallon is complete without saying hello at the Francis Hotel. This is not just a pub, but the hub of this small community. The hotel offers a range of accommodation, cold drinks, delicious pub meals, local information, and good old-fashioned country hospitality.
